DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to Application Serial No. 10/748,355 filed on December 03, 2003 in which claims 1-17 are presented for examination.

Specification

2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The present invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

3. The specification is objected to because of the following informalities:
The serial Numbers are missing on paragraphs [0037] and [0043].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Vos et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,640,175).

In regard to claim 1, Vos et al. discloses a method of predicting an empty condition for a vehicle seat having an occupancy sensing system with a sensor array assembly (see abstract and col. 3 lines 11-60), said method including the steps of:

- determining a first resultant value based on the change between the differences among a first series of sensor readings taken from the sensor array over a first predetermined period of time (see abstract and claims 1-20);
- determining a second resultant value based on the change between the differences among a second series of sensor readings taken from the sensor array over a second predetermined period of time;
- summing said first and second resultant values to determine if the summed value is negative (see abstract and claims 1-20);

- calculating the change in the first and second resultant values as a function of time to determine if the calculated change is greater than a predetermined value; and classifying the vehicle seat as empty if the summed value is negative and calculated change is greater than the predetermined amount (see abstract and claims 1-20).

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 2-14 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
7. Claims 15-17 are allowed.
